About Us

Being in nature makes me feel happy and more alive! As does being with my team...

Spending time together outdoors, taking long walks amidst the prairie flowers, gathering inspiration, discussing creative challenges, and sharing insights on just about everything is a rewarding way to stay connected with each other. I go back into the studio with fresh ideas.

We hopefully bring some of these to you on the following pages. Thank you for your continued enthusiasm for Willow Tree!

Susan Lordi

Sustainable Packaging

I am passionate about conservation of natural habitats and the wildlife that depends on them. This passion colors everything I do and make. So, sustainable packaging is a primary concern for our brand, while keeping in mind affordability, breakability and accessibility.

Our aspiration is to use recycled and recyclable packaging materials for each piece we produce. Improving the quality of our materials is a constant focus of our team, and it is indeed improving, as new resources and materials become available.

Since Summer 2020, every new piece is packaged with eco-friendly recyclable packaging, and every year we convert more of the existing pieces. Our Goal by Year-End 2024 is for production of 100% of the Willow Tree® line to be in eco-friendly 100% recyclable or compostable packaging.

Each one of us, doing something small and positive, can make a difference. And whatever we do for our earth – for nature – is good for all of us! I find this to be an uplifting and hopeful message for the future.

Music Speaks

Moved by the power of music

'Music is the foundation of all the performing arts. Music transports us —it can be absorbed quietly, evoking strong memories, or move us in powerful ways. It makes us dance, laugh, cry, sing, create. It's the cornerstone of so much that we love. Even people with memory loss can enjoy and connect with music. It has a way of directly speaking to the soul.'

'As I was contemplating sculpting a piece that is an expression of music, I wanted to etch a pattern that tells a story. The interlocking carvings of dancers and musical instruments flow in a continuous narrative around the figure.'

'Her gesture is one of being enraptured. She could be the listener, or she could be the performer, sharing her gift with others.'

Prayer of Peace

Keepsake Box

Seeking the quiet within

'I wanted this figure to be a humble piece, but very centering, calming, peaceful... with a universal gesture of meditative thought. The surface of her dress is carved with texture and patterns of living natural forms. Even though this is a quiet piece, I wanted the imagery to be very alive with movement — to have an inner energy of life.'

Remembrance

Memories... hold each one safely in your heart

'This piece is all about memories — how warm, comforting memories help us to heal when we're missing someone. If you look closely at the carved icons on her dress, each recalls a memory by appealing to our senses... touch, scent, taste, sound, sight. We keep these personal memories safe within us, connecting us to those we love.'

Launched October 2022

A gift to say Thank You; to express gratitude to those who care for us, encourage and support us, and surround us with love and joy. A gift to oneself as a reminder to practice gratitude in daily life. And, for those who love flowers and gardening.

28179 With Gratitude
Filled with a golden light of gratitude
Height: 14.0cm 📦

'I really like the simplicity and truth of this sentiment, Above all, kindness. Kindness is a virtue that gives us so much reward, and one we aspire to. The pet that the child holds can be metaphorical (who better to teach us about kindness than animals?) or the figure can simply represent a loving relationship between a young girl and her cat.'

Height: 13.0cm 📦

'Somehow our pets sense—they just know—how we feel. And totally accept us, in whatever emotional or physical state we appear. They teach us about friendship and patience and inner peace. They support us with loyalty, softness, an independent spirit and expressive gaze. It is true that animals have a sixth sense. It is the sense of love, unconditionally.'

‘Our healing touch is all about the hair. Hair is a symbol of our identity — who we are, how we see ourselves. Our hair differentiates us, but also connects us. Isn’t the first way we ‘date’ a photograph by the hairstyle? Hair is tactile, sensuous, and the touching and stroking of it can be comforting and healing. These women are connecting with each other in a quiet moment, attuned to each other, in harmony.’

Love | Friendship

A puppy brings joy, exuberance and a bit of chaos into the household at first, then mellows over time to become a companion, a playmate, a confidante; always happy to see us, never tiring of our presence.

As a metaphor for friendship, a dog represents the trust and comfort of a good friend, and how this relationship grows in value through the years.

'When carving this figure, I was influenced by the postures of classical sculptures, where the line of the shoulders is in opposition to the hips, or 'contrapposto'. I wanted the gesture to involve her whole body — 360 degrees. So any way that the viewer turns the figure, there is movement and life and expression.'

'I look to things that bring joy, especially in difficult times.'

A gift to express appreciation and thankfulness for teachers, volunteers, donors, caregivers, friends. Willow Tree angels resonate with many cultures and ages of people. To some they represent protection, to some they are an outward reminder of inner peace, and to some they represent a way to remember those who have left this earth.
